Lucy G. Moses Awards

Lucy G. Moses Preservation Awards for 2004

The year 2004 marked the fourteenth annual round of the Landmarks Conservancy's Lucy G. Moses Preservation Awards. Named after a noted philanthropist, the awards recognize the property owners, builders, artisans, and designers who renew the beauty and utility of New York's distinctive architecture. Their achievements underscore the success of historic preservation and its role in the economic, social, and cultural vitality of our city.

The Landmarks Conservancy's highest honors were awarded on April 12, 2005 at Hoffman Hall of the General Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church.
